From the President

At the November meeting we discussed the club's finances in light of the removal of the Rockwell subsidy. Several ideas were discussed for overcoming the shortfall, including holding some type of fund raising activity. If you have any suggestions on how we can raise some money for the club, let me know. After the business meeting we shared some of the photos we shot at our outing at Pinicon Ridge park in October. If anyone has any shots they'd like to share in the newsletter, email a scanned file (72 dpi) to our editor John Davidson so he can include it in a future newsletter.

Some good news is that our darkroom has been getting enough use lately that we had to send the chemical waste container out for disposal. It's back in the darkroom again, so everything should be ready for anyone who wants to use the darkroom.

The photos from the 2003 Annual Photo Contest are now available on the club's external website www.collinsclubs.com/cpc. If you weren't able to make it to the contest or see the display in the 106 cafeteria, check out the website to see some of the excellent work by your fellow club members.

For the January meeting on the 15th, Dave Detwiler has arranged a visit to The Modern Gallery and Framing Company in downtown Cedar Rapids, the former Mote Brothers Custom Framing store. The new owner, Robert Fox, happens to be a large format black and white photographer. He has some of his work on display, which should be interesting for those of us into black and white photography.

That's it for this month. I hope you all had a nice holiday season and were able to give your cameras a good workout. We have plenty of snow out there this year, so let's see if we can get some snow photos in for sharing at a future meeting.

- Jim Zelle President

Your Newsletter

Okay, so I missed December. What happened to December anyway? Well,

January is in full swing and I'll probably be asking the same question in February.

My wife Candi and I have been remodeling our kitchen and I am in the process of rewiring the entire house, so it has been a very busy last few weeks.

I still need your pictures! I was going to include a good digital pic of our Dalmatian, but I can't get to it because she chewed through my Internet connection!

For all who are interested, you can see some of the point and shoot pics (with a few that took some effort mixed in) my wife and I have collected over the last few years. Our web address is <http://c.davidson.home.mchsi.com>.

For anyone interested in building your own page it's very easy. Your current Internet service provider probably provides web space and tools to help you build it! If you would like to share your site, let me know!

Please send me some photos for next month's newsletter!
